Report on opportunities for developing competencies and skills in different functional areas

DMMTTC design learning opportunities as the curriculum offered by VBU. The Learning area targeted is class Learning, small group learning and peer group learning as per the need. The learning activities include reading, writing, drawing, discussion, presentation. The emphasis is on ability to enquire, scientific temper linguistic skill and critical thinking. Observation analysis and evaluation are key factors targeted. Teachers act as guide and helpers of students in acquiring the competencies and skills. It is seen that this procedure enhances the analyzing and judging capability of the students. The continuation of this process sharpens and hones the skills of students with time.

Competency development refers to a combination of knowledge, skills, and attitudes to develop a particular workplace behavior or improve performance. It entails expanding and honing a person's skills and expertise. It's a continuous process where professionals build their experience and knowledge to add value to individual and collective activities.
